

ABSTRACT

A candle cover for use with light fixtures having at least one candle assembly. The candle cover has an elongated, translucent sleeve with a longitudinal bore therethrough which is dimensioned to receive the candle assembly. The sleeve has a length with sufficient dimension to extend the top portion of the sleeve above the screw shell of a light bulb when the sleeve is mounted on the candle assembly. This gives a distinctive glowing appearance to the candle cover, which is highly attractive.